

Please Go Green!

Recently there are many articles about the idea of 'going green'. I remember one day I read an article about the concept of going green, that means, be more environmentally friendly, only by doing this can we save Mother Earth.

Every day human being uses up a vast amount of energy-producing products. Sometimes we use more than what we actually need and this is not green. We should now use fuel with a smarter and greener manner like some 'world idols', for example, President Barack Obama has just bought a car called 'hybrid car', it is a new type of energy-saving car. Mr. Obama is really a trendy icon, right?

Hybrid cars are not for non-drivers like me, but of course there are many ways to be green to conserve the world. There was a world-wide program last month urging people in the world to turn off lights for 60 minutes to promote the 'go greener' idea. I think this is a really effective program, and more programs like this should be held in the coming future.

Recycling and reusing plastic bags would definitely do well to planet Earth. Sometimes we just buy very little things from store, there's no point and not green for us to get a big plastic bag and throw it away immediate after using it once. Please reuse, reduce and recycle.

There are many important things and matters that we would like to mark down every day. We use up loads of papers EVERY DAY! So whenever we use a sheet of paper, please think and try to use both sides of it. When doing wrappings for gifts, also use less wrapping papers. Be green! These save the world, and save your purse!

Many companies in the past like to post greeting cards to their customers during greeting seasons. Now most of them choose to use e-cards. When we want to send greetings to our friends or clients, why not use e-cards? It's greener.

Think that e-cards are not sweet enough? No worry, you can now draw your OWN e-cards and DIY them for your friends and suit your needs! These DIY cards can be as sweet as paper cards, and you can develop your own design talents and at the same time, be GREEN!

Mother Earth is OUR Earth, if you don't want to make your sons and daughters suffer from the unnecessary waste you create, please think thrice before you use everything in the world. Be smart, be green.
